D. de Mather,

In my mind the correspondence you have sent me clearly explains itself, so far as I am concerned, I received the money from Bob's paper after I have passed through the office of the Editor in a duty bound position did it to my account, and as I should have thought would in due course have sent it to you.
One gentleman here it has reached I believe, so if my money here be right you will be well at the
