Dear Brother,

The Ceremonies connected with the three degrees you have taken as a Master Mason have a deep symbolism underlying them, a knowledge of which will make Masonry of great interest to you.

In the Grand Lodge Library there is a large store of Masonic literature dealing with this symbolism, as well as with the history and evolution of the Craft. An opportunity is thus afforded you to make some daily progress in Masonic knowledge (as you were charged at your initiation to do), and the Library Committee invites you to make use of the Library, which is free to every subscribing member. An application form for the loan of books can be obtained from the Secretary of your Lodge, which, on completion, should be sent to the Librarian, who, if you wish, will select books and post them to you.

For and on behalf of the Library Committee,

David Cunningham

Grand Secretary.
