CRYPT OF YORK MINSTER.
Where the Freemasons anciently held their Assemblies.

Masonic Memories of York,

Being a collection of Photographic Views of the principal Ancient Buildings and Relics in the City of York, especially from a Masonic Point of View.

The ancient Roman Eboracum the Modern York has always been an object of great interest to travellers in Great Britain, whilst to Freemasons its associations are very dear, since it enjoys the reputation of having been the birthplace of those ancient building Guilds or Sodalties of the Western World which have found their modern outcome in Speculative Freemasonry. Of late years numbers of American Freemasons have singly as well as in groups, visited this quaint city and been conducted by local brethren to its many points of interest. In July 1878 a part of Philadelphia Brethren and in 1883 a large party of Chicago Brethren and ladies were thus conducted, and it has occurred to an English brother (J. Marshall of Sowerby Bridge,) that a series of Photographs of the principal ruins and buildings in the ancient stronghold of the North might prove interesting to many of the Visitors. Accordingly Bro. Rogers has spent some weeks in securing Views with the camera, and brief descriptions have been prepared by Bro. G. B. Whytehead of York the well known masonic writer, the whole forming an elegant pocket album comprising 36 pictures, strongly and handsomely bound in leather with emblematic tooling and gilt edges. The Views and Portraits contained are as follows:
