INTRODUCTION

Herein is recorded something of the Masonic Life, and work for their Lodge, of men, many of whose names are now but a shadowy memory to all but the oldest of us. They were not necessarily great by worldly achievements, but they were by their quiet devotion and sustained loyalty to our Lodge.

We who practice our Masonry in the 1990's may find it hard to appreciate the difficult conditions which existed at the turn of the century. Today we enjoy all the advantages of modern transport and communications, neither of which was available to our brethren of old. Indeed their attendances at Lodge meetings must have frequently involved them in considerable personal sacrifice and even discomfort.

Every old Lodge has its own tale to tell. This simple record published to commemorate our 90th Anniversary much of it concerning a long vanished day has been a pleasurable labour of love by the small committee of Lodge Historians involved. We hope that it will make a very small and modest contribution to the history of Freemasonry.

It is also our fervent hope that it will be an encouragement to those who come after, to guard and cherish the past achievements by this Lodge; and its proud reputation in the Masonic Province of Worcestershire.
